

INSTITUTION FOR SAVINGS

BUILDING STRONGER COMMUNITIES TOGETHER SINCE 1820.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

February 4, 2015

CONTACT: Mary Anne Clancy, Vice President, Communications
978-462-3106 x1224

INSTITUTION FOR SAVINGS MIDDLETON OFFICE EXCEEDS $100 MILLION IN ITS FIRST NINE MONTHS

Middleton, MA – After opening its doors just a little more than nine months ago, the Institution for Savings' Middleton office has exceeded $100 million in deposits, announced President and Chief Executive Officer Michael J. Jones recently. This milestone is particularly impressive given the growing national trend for banks to close offices rather than open new ones.

“While we enthusiastically embrace and encourage alternative banking channels such as internet and mobile banking, I firmly believe that conveniently located offices and our personal style of banking continue to be most important to customers. That certainly has proven true in Middleton,” said Mr. Jones.

Middleton Office Manager Jennifer Kocur, far left; Assistant Manager Jennifer Morgan, second from left, and their staff are very active in the community.

The Middleton Office is located at 161 South Main Street, on busy Route 114 and across from Richardson's Ice Cream. Since opening in May of 2015, Manager Jennifer Kocur, Assistant Manager Jennifer Morgan and their staff have been very busy opening new accounts and getting involved in the community. Employees have already jumped in to volunteer for organizations and events that include Neighbors in Need, the Middleton Food Pantry, the Middleton Board of Trade, Pumpkin Fest, Chief Wills Day, Community Giving Tree.

Through its charitable foundations, the Bank has also financially supported a number of area non-profit organizations including the Masconomet Education Foundation, the Middleton Council on Aging, Middleton Parent-Teacher Organization, and the Middleton Food Pantry.

“As a mutual savings bank, our true commitment to our communities extends far beyond profits,” continued Mr. Jones. “We are thrilled with the warm welcome we have received from Middleton businesses and residents alike since we opened. Our promise to the people of Middleton is simple: to always do what we can to improve the lives of those around us. The Bank looks forward to continuing to do what we can to make this community a great place in which to live and work.”

-END-